A FEW JARS FROM THE KENTUCKY SUN

Mr. Watterson, after congratulating the Courier-Journal and its editor for restoring sanity to the Democratic party serves notice on Urey Woodson and his "played out Bryan crowd" that they are no longer wanted in Democratic councils. Now what are Urey and the "played out Bryan crowd" going to do about it?

After Morrow's exposure at Bowling Green of Superintendent Hamlett's grafting upon the school fund it is said Mr. Hamlett and a bunch of his friends got together at one of the Frankfort hotels, discussed the calamity, took a few drinks to drown their troubles and decided to say nothing. In fact, they had nothing to say.

Mr. Stanley will open his campaign with a beef roast and burgo dinner at Glasgow Monday. Morrow's opening speech at Bowling Green was heard by a great audience that was not baited out with burgo.

It is not believed the Democratic campaign committee will bill Mr. Hamlett for a great number of speeches. His traveling expense account runs too heavy.

This rather suggestive conversation occurred between two street cleaners yesterday:

First Speaker—"I'm goin' to run for president on the Democratic ticket."

Second Speaker—"What's yer platform?"

First Speaker—"I seen two niggers fightin' in a alley last night an' I kep out of the fight."

After the close of Mr. Willson's term as Governor a great howl went up from the Democratic press about the heavy indebtedness of the State, which amounted at that time to $560,000. Every dollar spent by Gov. Willson's administration was authorized by a law passed by a Democratic legislature, but if a debt of $560,000 was a crime how characterize the present State debt of $3,275,000, and it carrying an annual interest charge of $163,750?

Col. Morrow's exposure of the graft at Frankfort, in his Bowling Green speech is but a paragraph in a long chapter yet to come of the dark and devious theiving from the State treasury by the Democratic gang at Frankfort.

With fifteen thousand idle laborers tramping the streets of Louisville in a futile search for employment our friends out in the State may know what to expect of Louisville in November.

The Woodson-Marse Henry war is over. Peace envoys intervened and brought about a cessation of hostilities. The distinguished Democratic generals were waited upon and advised that as the old party ship had settled pretty low in the water already that further torpedoing would send it to the bottom. But the peace envoys came upon the scene just at a moment to embarrass Marse Henry. Woodson had just drawn a toe mark and dared Marse Henry over, and before Marse Henry could demonstrate his prowess the peace envoys stopped the fight.

Stanley believes in stepping stones to "greater things. He wants to be Governor to build himself a machine which will land him in the United States Senate in 1921 as Beckham's successor.

Steadily declining earnings of the railroads is an alarming feature of the financial situation.

CIVIC LEAGUE MEETS

The Civic League met with Mrs. F. D. Sampson Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was well attended and many subjects of public interest were discussed and disposed of to best advantage for our city.

Every live, progressive town has a wide-awake Civic League and the officials of the town co-operate heartily with the League in its plans and efforts to make the town and its surroundings come up to fixed standards of orderliness. Every lady in our town should become a member of the Civic League and take an active part in the work.

The League will hold their next meeting with Mrs. David Carson Payne in her home on Depot street on Wednesday afternoon, October 13th 1915. All the ladies are invited to be present.

NEW PIKE STREET

We wish to call the attention of the citizens of this city to the new pike on Pine street; it is a beauty, and we feel proud of it.

We also want to call attention to the fact that the City Council have been doing some good work in the way of filling low places and holes in all of Main and Depot streets; this is the main thoroughfare of the city and we are glad that we have a council that can so arrange the finance of the city so that they each year have money to repair and keep up the streets, and to make extensions where needed.

Our City Council have so arranged matters, after paying $1600 per year for fire protection, $1800 per year for lighting the city, $1653 per year for payment of the City Officers and jail fees, that they can always have money in the treasury, after paying off and satisfying one of the City's bonds of $500.00 each year and $250.00 and the interest on the unpaid indebtedness, our officers, while not millionaires, are good safe business men, and have run the affairs of the city in a satisfactory manner. Some of them will be candidates for re-election, and we believe that they are deserving and should have the support of the entire city.

Notice of Filing Petition

On October the 16th 1915 I will file a petition in the Knox County Court for a change of roadway thru the lands of Neal Farris, A distance of about 200 feet, so as to secure a suitable and practical roadway.

This the 1st day of Oct. 1912.

MRS. CARRI- THERS FELT DISCOURAGED

Glad She Took Advice
When Husband Said
"Let's Get a Bottle of Tanlac

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 8, 1915.
Statement after statement is now being made in regard to the merits of Tanlac, the new medicine that is accomplishing such astonishing results in Louisville. Mrs. Sallie Carriers, residing at 3846 Grand Boulevard, city, wife of a well-known car builder at the L & N shops, said recently: "My husband just simply forced me to take this Tanlac, but I am glad that I took the medicine, as I am one of the happiest women in Louisville."

"I had always suffered from catarrh of the stomach, but my real trouble began when I ate something and had ptomaine poisoning as a result of it. My stomach was in such a bad, sensitive condition that I could not eat anything."

"My husband said to me one day, 'Why don't you try this Tanlac?' I had tried so many things that I felt discouraged and told him that I believed nothing would help me."

"He took me for a walk one evening recently, and when passing the Taylor-Isaacs Drug Store, he said, 'Let's go in and get a bottle of Tanlac.' He had my arm and we went into the store together and bought a bottle of Tanlac."

"I waited until morning before I began taking the medicine. I took a dose before breakfast, one at noon, and a third at supper. That night I slept more soundly than I had in months. I now have taken two bottles of Tanlac and I feel like I am cured. I am here to get another bottle, though, as my husband insists that I should do so."

"I simply cannot get enough to eat now. I never had such an appetite in my life. I enjoy everything I taste and I digest everything properly. My stomach is in excellent condition and the catarrhal trouble has disappeared. My hearing has even improved. Tanlac is really a very wonderful medicine."

Tanlac, the premier preparation, is sold exclusively in Barbourville Ky. at Herndon Drug Company's Drug Store. adv.

Gilbert-Luck

Last Wednesday evening Mr. Henry Luck and Miss Nannie Gilbert eloped to Cumberland Gap where they were made as one for the remainder of life. We wish them much happiness.

Mr. Luck came to this city last winter and has been engaged in the automobile repairing business since that time; Miss Gilbert is the daughter of Mr. Ed Gilbert of Depot street.

Editing a Newspaper

Editing a newspaper is a pleasing business—if you can stand it. If subscribers want to bawl out anybody—the editor's the goat.

If the town is lagging behind and people won't get out and make things hum—its because the town paper is on the bum.

If business is bad—it's because the editor wants too much money for his advertising space.

"Our Motto" Safety First

"MUSTN'T TOUCH"

Remember when you were a little tad, or taddess, and your mother or father pointed out something to your little eyes and said: "Mustn't touch"? Of course you remember it. You'll never forget as long as you live how those very words threw a cloak of mystery around the object that you "Mustn't touch," and how that phrase started the determination in your mind that you WOULD touch.

The other day a mother took her two-year-old baby to call on a neighbor. The first thing the child noticed in the room was the glare of the fire in a stove. She pointed at it and said, in her childish lisp:

"Pitty!"

"Mustn't touch, baby," warned her mother, drawing her away from the stove.

Then the mother turned to talk with her friend. The very first thing the baby did was to touch the hot stove. The "Mustn't touch" command of her mother only whetted her curiosity and MADE her touch the stove. But she burned her hand and learned through experience not to touch.

The other day the mother of a boy in town here made some pumpkin pies. As she placed them near a window to cool she saw her young son looking longingly at the steaming pies.

"Mustn't touch she warned, shaking a finger at him. Then she left the room. The first thing her son did was to grab one of the pies and eat it all. He became very ill.

He learned, through experience, that he shouldn't eat too much pie. The "Mustn't touch" warning had only made him all the more curious.

Men and women are only big boys and girls. They have almost the same thoughts and identically the same aversion to the phrase "Mustn't touch." Only in the realm of the big boy and girlhood it isn't a mother or father who says "Mustn't touch," but some law, framed by a zealot who would try to make legislation do what nothing but education or experience will accomplish. Such laws are always broken and thus is generated a disrespect for good and necessary laws. If a law was passed today prohibiting a man having ham and eggs for breakfast it would be a safe wager that he would have ham and eggs for breakfast for 364 days out of the year and on the 365th day he would have—ham and eggs.

The Limit in Prohibition.

Oregon has a new law intended to make prohibition of the liquor traffic stronger than a steel-and-concrete trench defended by gatling guns, says the Arlene, Kansas, Chronicle. If liquor is imported from another state, woe to the man who dares drink it! He is obliged on receiving the liquor to sign an affidavit stating that it is to be used only for sacramental purposes. An Eastern Anti-Saloon league man, commenting on this situation says: "Please take note the slips bearing the signed oaths of liquor receivers must be filed with the county clerk and that he must treat them as public records, allowing access to them at any time. Now, what Anti-Salooners propose to do is to keep consulting those records, follow them up and see what each receiver of liquor has done with it (it will not be hard to find out whether he has used it for sacramental purposes) and, in case he has violated his oath by drinking the liquor as a beverage, prosecute him for perjury to the limit of the law and let him rot for a few years in jail. Do you think that will hold them?" In contrast with this statement by Mr. Trent comes the Benton County (Ore) Courier which claims that the prohibition law of that state contains a little joker. It seems that each family has been limited to 24 gallons of beer and 2 gallons of whiskey per month. "The family could get along with this much water," says the Courier, "if it would use the beer to bathe in."
